Emma's Kind Christmas

A Coloring Storybook about Giving, Helping, and Kind Hearts

MARATALES

Stories that grow good hearts · Ages 4–8

It was almost Christmas. Emma helped Mom and Dad decorate the tree — and she placed the shining star right on top!

In the warm kitchen, Emma helped Mom bake star cookies. She stirred, she sprinkled, and she shared the very first cookie.

Before the guests arrived, Emma tidied her room all by herself. Every toy found its home.

Emma set the table for Christmas dinner — a plate, a cup, and a kind smile for everyone.

Emma wrapped a special gift for her friend Lily, who had been feeling sad. Kind hands make warm hearts.

When Lily opened her gift, her eyes sparkled. Emma learned that giving feels even better than getting.

Emma carried warm cookies to Mrs. Rose next door. “Merry Christmas!” she said. Kindness is sweetest when it is shared.

Outside in the snow, Emma sprinkled crumbs for the little birds and poured milk for the cat. Even small friends matter.

At dinner, Emma folded her hands and said thank you — for the food, for her family, and for love all around.

That night, Emma hung her stocking and whispered, “Being kind is the best gift of all.” Merry Christmas, Emma.

The End

In this story, Emma practiced:

Giving with a happy heart
Helping at home
Kindness to neighbors and friends
Caring for animals
Saying thank you

More tales that grow good hearts at maratales.com